HOOF ESSENTIALS

BioStride Trainers Formula has a new name, but it's still a miracle in a scoop

BioStride Trainers Formula has been a favorite among knowledgeable horse lovers for years because it gives you results you can see. Now we've changed the name to Formula 707 Hoof Essentials, but we didn't change the winning formula.

Hoof Essentials gives chipped, cracked, crumbling, delaminating hooves the intensive care they need...from the inside. Hoof Esentials is a proprietary blend of d-biotin (a B-vitamin vital to hoof health), DL-methionine and L-lysine (essential amino acids), plus the minerals calcium, phosphorus, zinc methionine complex, and proteinated manganese and copper to maximize bio-availability. All these high-quality nutrients are blended into a base of yeast culture, dried distillers grains and rice hulls to make a highly palatable, well-balanced product to promote hoof health.

Vegas, a barrel-racing horse, had a significant hoof wall separation, called laminitis, in the late spring. As a result, the coffin bone rotated down, causing tenderness and lameness. After the first x-ray, the horse was started on a regular course of Formula 707 Hoof Essentials. Within weeks there was noticeable improvement, and by the following January, a second x-ray showed no sign of laminitis, and the coffin bone rotated back into its normal position.

In January, Cisco, a Tennessee Walker gelding, was discovered with the entire back half of his hoof missing through an unknown encounter with a sharp object. Sub-zero temperatures had fortunately stopped the bleeding, but the vet told the owner that although the coffin bone hadn't been injured, it would be at least a year before she could ride and the hoof may always be defective. The owner insisted on Formula 707 Hoof Essentials from day one at the vets, where Cisco stayed for 34 days. In July — half the time the vet had predicted — Cisco took his owner on a five-day trail riding and camping adventure.

Formula 707 Hoof Essentials is an essential part of your inventory.
